New web-site address

16 September 2004

The Met Office is changing its internet and e-mail domain name to metoffice.gov.uk. This better reflects our role as the UK's national meteorological service responsible for providing forecasts for the benefit of the whole community.

You will start to see some changes to the name on the web-site pages over the next few weeks.

Those using the internet or sending us information will largely be unaffected by the change, but you may wish to update your favourites/bookmarks in your web browser. Whilst we would prefer you to use the metoffice.gov.uk domain name, both metoffice.gov.uk and metoffice.com will work in parallel for the foreseeable future.

If you have any questions about this change please contact our Customer Centre.
